William Hague Passes Suddenly—Funeral Services

William Hague, Sr., aged 63, passed away very suddenly last Friday afternoon at 4 p.m. at the Canadian Sugar Factories Ltd. plant from a heart seizure. He had been in ill health since early last spring, when his physical condition forced him to give up his work as dairyman and farm foreman at the Mental Auxiliary Hospital here, but his sudden passing Friday came as a distinct shock to everyone.

He had punched in for work on the afternoon shift and had climbed the stairs to the picking table where he worked, complaining when he reached the top of the stairs that he didn't feel very good. He laid down on the floor to get his breath, and when the man he was to relieve at this station went to rouse him to take over, deceased was dead. Artificial respiration was tried but without avail.

Born in England, deceased came to Canada when a young man and settled in Raymond in the early days of the town back about 1904 or 1905. He had always been interested in dairying and poultry raising and kept cows and chickens on his own for many years, and for a long time had charge of the dairy herd for the School of Agriculture here, until the school was closed. When the Hospital opened and dairymen were wanted, "Bill" as everyone knew him took over the job and kept it until early this year when he was compelled to give it up. Quiet and reserved, he talked but little. He was thoroughly dependable and reliable and liked to do the work he had in charge just a little better than anyone else could do it. He was father of a large family, all of them being present for the funeral services, a lovely tribute to their father.

FUNERAL SERVICES

The funeral was held in the Stake House Wednesday afternoon at 1 p.m. with Rev. P. L. Grant of the Church of England, Lethbridge in charge. Mr. McBride conducted the singing with Mrs. Emma Dalry at the console.

Hymns by the choir were "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me" and Thos. Roberts sang a vocal solo. Elders C. E. Alfred and C. R. Wing each spoke briefly of their association with deceased & the family and paid tribute to the splendid character of the father and the fine family he left with his loving wife to mourn his sudden passing.

The funeral sermon, scripture reading and prayers both at the service and the graveside were taken charge of by the Rev. Grant.

Besides his wife, the following sons and daughters are left to mourn his passing: The Rev. J. R. Hague of Coleman, Alta.; Mrs. D. H. MacRae, Wilford, Hague of Pictou, N.S.; Albert of Raymond, Kenneth in the Army Postal Service, Ottawa; William, Jr., Raymond, Mrs. Kathleen MacDougall of Edmonton and Douglas of Vancouver. With the many friends of the family we extend our deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

Kenneth Hague arrived from Ottawa Wednesday morning to attend the funeral of his father and had to leave again Saturday morning to return to duty.

WEDDING BELLS

DEPEW — MEEKS

Sergt. Melvin Depew of the R.C.A.F. and Lavann, youngest daughter of Jas. E. Meeks were married in the Alberta Temple at Cardston last Thursday, Nov. 18th with Pres. Edw. J. Wood officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and friends of the young people who all joined in wishing them long life and happiness.

That evening in Lethbridge at the home of the brother-in-law and sister of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gowan, a wedding supper was served, which was attended by the immediate relatives of the young couple.

On Saturday at noon a reception was held at the home of Mrs. W. G. Meeks, aunt of the bride, and covers were laid for 118 guests in the large dining room of the Meeks home. The table was centred with a three tier wedding cake. While the guests were assembling Mrs. Alice Jensen played Lohengrin's "Wedding March" and Mrs. Devos Matkin rendered a vocal solo. A number of out-of-town guests were present including the bride's sister and husband from Barnwell.

Saturday evening both bride and groom boarded the east-bound train from Lethbridge for Halifax where the groom has been stationed with the R.C.A.F. Both bride and groom are popular members of Raymond's younger set and they have the best wishes of everyone for a long and happy married life. The bride has recently finished a two year's mission in the Central States and is at present with the British Government in Dayton, Ohio. The groom received his pilot's wings at a ceremony recently at Calgary and has been posted for duty at Halifax. With their many friends we extend our best wishes to the newlyweds.

NEWS NOTES

Clyde C. Spencer of Magrath was a visitor in Raymond on Wednesday.

Emerson Tollestrup returned to Regina, Sask., Thursday morning and is being transferred from there to High River to carry on his pilot's training.

Raymond's Carnival closes tonight and Magrath's is on next Thursday and Friday, Dec. 2nd and 3rd. Read the Magrath ad. in this paper.

The 145th Quorum of Seventy will hold their annual get together Saturday, November 27th in the Stake House. Senior President I. B. Roberts, who is leaving soon for missionary work will be the honored guest of the evening. All members and partners are invited.

Berlin has really been pounded this past week, 2,500 tons of blockbusters hitting the centre of the Reich Monday night and another 1,000 plane raid Tuesday night. Casualties are heavy and commentators say that the city will never be able to recover from the damage. Just in passing this is the city that the German propagandists bragged about as invulnerable. We wonder just what their story will be now.

Quarterly Conference Last Sunday

The regular quarterly Conference was held Saturday and Sunday, preceded by a meeting for the Magrath people on Friday night. Elders S. O. Bennion of the First Council of Seventy and C. Orval Stott of the General Church Welfare Committee represented the General Authorities and were the principal speakers at the Conference meetings as well as the Priesthood and Welfare meetings that were held. Good attendances were noted, but the gas and tire rationing begins to have its effect on Conference attendance a little more each quarter.

In the presentation of the General Church and Stake authorities Sunday afternoon there were a few changes necessitated, among which were the following:

I. B. Roberts was released as Stake Clerk, because of his wife accepting a missionary call and William A. Anderson was sustained in his place.

Geo. Thomson of Magrath was released as Stake Mission President due to ill health, and Clyde C. Spencer was sustained to this position. In this connection a number of the missionaries who had been serving a number of years were released. Others will be called but were not presented at the Conference.

Carlyle Litchfield, who has been Secretary of the second Elders Quorum was released because of his work taking him out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Ackroyd of Magrath and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney B. Smith of Raymond have also been called to the missionary field and will be leaving soon to take up their labors.

A Priesthood meeting was held at 9 a.m. when President Bennion gave instructions to the members of the Quorums and their leaders for carrying on quorum work. The regular Sunday School session was held at 10 a.m.

The afternoon session was devoted to testimonies of the departing missionaries, short talks by Elders H. F. Allen and Melvin T. King of the Stake Presidency and Pres. Bennion gave a very interesting talk urging Bishops to make it a point to give every Ward members an opportunity to speak by using six or seven or eight in a meeting, and not to feel that every speaker had to have previous notice. He related incidents of where valuable and faith inspiring testimonies had been heard from backward members of the Church, who would never have given those testimonies had not those in office asked them to do it. We have a new membership in the Church who know very little of the pioneering in the growth of the Church. Older members who helped pioneer these Stakes and whose fathers and mothers helped settle Utah, could build faith and a greater appreciation for the Gospel in the hearts of the young people by recounting some of the experiences that the pioneers had made. Elder Heber S. Allen was also a speaker at this meeting.

The Stake Choir furnished the singing for this session and rendered some very fine music.

The Mutual session was held in the evening and Elder Bennion was again the main speaker at this session giving an inspiring message to the youth. From his many years of experiences as a Mission President as well as in the Council of Seventy the speaker drew many experiences that were extremely interesting to his listeners.

HOW TO SEND MAIL TO TROOPS IN ITALY

Worried about how to get mail to the soldier serving in the Mediterranean area? The answer is to address it in the same manner as mail for members of the Canadian Army Overseas.

Number, Rank, Name, Details of Unit, Regiment or Branch of Service, Canadian Army Overseas. And keep that mail going to him. It means a lot.

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell announces that two new trade training courses have recently been approved by the Department of Labour.

At the Teachers' Training College at Hamilton courses are being given to about 30 men who will be trained as instructors and will be available for trade training of members of the Armed Forces after discharge. Nearly all of the 30 are themselves veterans, and are qualified mechanics in one or other of the trades.

While the Dominion Government meets the entire cost of the course, it is being carried out in co-operation with the province of Ontario.

Through arrangements between the Department of Labour and provincial authorities a series of courses will be given during the present winter season at which instruction will be in cheese and butter making and as dairy men. Each course will run for about 3 months. Already two courses are under way, one at Guelph, with 60 men and 4 women in attendance, and a small group at St. Hyacinthe. It is expected that over 300 persons will be trained at these courses during this winter.

Courses will be given in Ontario, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Quebec and those selected for the training will be from the farm.

ONE MORE RAT JOINS HITLER'S BERLIN GANG

London, Nov. 24—It probably was a dirty trick on the rat, but a Halifax bomber dropped one on Berlin in Monday night's record raid.

The crew discovered the rat—origin undetermined—trotting around the plane, groggy from lack of oxygen at that altitude, as they neared the target.

A flier cast it overboard muttering "just another rat in Berlin."—Lethbridge Herald.

NOW OR AFTER?

Because Canada, our Canada, needs all available material, money and man power to produce the essentials of war, our government has asked us to curtail spending as much as possible, make old things do and lend as much money as possible to the cause of victory, by buying Bonds, War Savings Certificates and War Savings Stamps. Without giving the matter any thought many of us resent this and talk against it. Let's reason the thing out a bit.

We hope we will not be misunderstood in our comments in this matter. We presume that if we called anyone a saboteur we would get a hop in the jaw and maybe rightly so, and yet, many of us, and we include ourselves may be "thoughtless saboteurs" and the results of our combined actions may be real and costly sabotage. You ask "why?"

The United Nations have now taken the offensive and are carrying the war to the enemy. How much did it cost in money material and manpower to plan and carry out the 1,000 plane raid on Germany last week when 2,500 tons of bombs were loaded on targets in a single night? You don't know and neither do we. But, the dollars you spend for non essentials, the materials you use for something constructed you could do without the gas and tires you use up in driving when you could walk, stay home or go with someone else, may all have their effect in either lessening the power, delaying the time, or weakening the effect of the next raid. You say "phooey, the little I spend doesn't amount to much." Right you are, but multiply that by the population of Canada and what would it amount to.

We chafe at rationing and the scarcity of goods. Are you going hungry or is your diet tasteless because of lack of variety. We don't think so and if sacrificing here and there means earlier victory you should be glad to do anything to hurry it up.

Now one other thing. Manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and everyone all along the line are short handed. All are using inexperienced labor. The cream of the crop of raw materials in every line is going, and rightly so, for the prosecution of the war. You can only expect what the market can supply in the things you buy. If it is poor grade that is just too bad, but it can't be helped.

We realize that repairs and upkeep are essential and good economy. However, when it comes to unnecessary expansion, improvement or spending, we think all Canadians might well ask themselves, and be quite frank in their answer, shall it be "Now or After?"

COST OF PORK PRODUCTION

There is in the minds of men raising pigs this question: "Can I realize the market price plus the bonus for my grain if I feed it to hogs." There is little doubt that the cost of producing pork (increased grain and labour cost) has risen steadily. The efficiency of production of the individual will depend upon a number of factors, but according to the figures recently released by the Department of Animal Science, University of Alberta, the good feeder can still beat market price on grain fed to hogs.

According to figures released by the University of Alberta last summer, feeding trials showed that wheat fed to pigs returned $1.40 a bushel. Oats and barley returned 80c and $1.13 a bushel, respectively. A labour cost of $3.00 per pig was deducted. If no labour charge was deducted, wheat and oats and barley returned $1.73 98c and $1.38 per bushel, respectively. In these trials overhead, interest on investment, depreciation on equipment, as well as current costs were all taken into account. Any farmer who can obtain as efficient gain per pound of feed as the University did (and there are many), can still beat market prices plus the bonus, by feeding his grain. In these trials, it took about 365 lbs of grain to make one pound live weight. This is better than the average feeder does. A more representative figure is 450 lbs of grain for each pound gain live weight.

Farmers who wish to check on costs might make use of the following figures. These are also supplied by the University of Alberta.

Average overhead (interest and depreciation on price of sows, buildings, etc., pasture, trucking, boat charge per cwt. $3.25. Labour $3.00 per pig or per cwt. $1.50.

To take an example:

Suppose dressed pork sells at $15. per cwt., the live weight price would be $11.25 per cwt. Net return to apply against the feed consumed will be found by subtracting overhead and labour from selling price - $11.25 - $3.25 - $1.50 = $6.50. This $6.50 can then be applied for feed consumed. Considering 450 pounds of grain for each pound of live weight gain, a net return of $1.44 per cwt. or 86.4c a bushel for wheat and 69c a bushel for barley is realized.

No. 1 wheat sells for more than 86.4c (that is if and when). However, there is little doubt that the man who has built up good equipment, and is having success in feeding pigs would be well advised to remain in the business. The biggest share of cost of production comes from the feed, and many feeders get a more efficient gain from the feed than the one used here. 450 pounds of grain per pound gain). Therefore net returns of efficient feeders will be higher than the above figure. Besides this they have invested money in buildings and equipment. If it is good equipment the best way to make it pay dividends is to use it in hog production. Although there have been times when grain brings a higher price on the market than through hogs, over a period of years, the returns from grain fed to hogs has been well above market price. Any farmer who chooses to make a business of hog raising can increase his total income over a long period of time.

QUANTITY OF MONEY

and volume of credit are matters of high national monetary policy.

Canada's Chartered Banks exist to perform two main services:

1. They receive the savings and other funds of the public, who thus build up bank balances in the form of savings and current accounts.
2. They advance money to communities, enterprises and persons to serve their legitimate needs.

Along with these main functions the banks, through more than 3,000 branches and sub-agencies, render a large number of other important services related to local and national needs—services which have greatly increased as a result of the war.

But the quantity of money in existence in the country at any given time, and the volume of credit, are matters of high national monetary policy. The nation's own central bank, the Bank of Canada, determines them. The Bank of Canada makes extensive use of the Chartered Banks' facilities in giving effect to these policies.

The Chartered Banks' responsibility, clearly established and regulated by the Bank Act, is in the realm of commercial banking—that is, to receive deposits and to serve the needs of trade and industry.

LABOR CONFERENCE ENDS FARMER IS KEY-MAN OF RECONSTRUCTION

The Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Chairman of the Conference of Dominion and Provincial Minister of Labour, issued a press statement when the meeting concluded at 5:15 this afternoon.

He first explained that the conference was called by the Department of Labour for the purpose of obtaining the views of the provincial Ministers and officials of Departments of Labour on the questions of—

1. Compulsory collective bargaining in respect to any term or condition of employment customarily included in collective agreements subject to the provisions of the Wages Control Order.

2. Compulsory arbitration of disputes arising out of negotiated agreements.

3. Definition and prohibition of unfair labour practices.

4. Adequate machinery for enforcement.

The Minister then said that after three days of very interesting discussion during which all aspects were canvassed he was very happy to state that on these four basic principles unanimity had been reached although two views developed as to what would be considered as war industry, if the order is to be restricted to war industry.

The Minister stated that the Department would now have the advantage of the views expressed and he would be assisted very considerably in framing his recommendation to the government.

For the re-establishment of a prosperous agriculture in Canada, many schemes have been proposed in reference to large works programs, Dr. E.S. Archibald, Director, Dominion Experimental Farms Service, told the Canadian Chamber of Commerce at its recent meeting, but, he said, while these schemes soundly conceived would make for a modern, much improved and more permanent agriculture in Canada, agricultural reconstruction must start with the farmer himself. He must have facilities whereby he may improve his business. That, said Dr. Archibald, obviously involved cheaper credit, comparable at least to that which is available to industry. The farmer alone can build his business, his home, and his soils. Farmers of Canada would certainly prefer fair prices for their products without subsidies, bonuses and subventions. No doubt there will be a transition, but the peacetime program of agriculture cannot be built on the vagaries of insecure and changing factors of that kind.

WINTER CARE OF THE BROOD SOW

(Experimental Farms News)

The housing, feeding and management of the brood sow during winter months are of vital importance in the production of strong vigorous litters, says W. W. Cram, Dominion Experimental Farm Indian Head, Sask.

crowling. On many Western farms sows are successfully brought through the winter in shelters constructed of poles and straw.

Fresh air, sunlight and a reasonable amount of regular daily exercise are necessary in the production of normal litters. These can be readily provided by feeding the sows at some distance from their sleeping quarters.

Oats are the safest single grain for brood sows and should generally make up about half of the total meal ration, by weight, in combination with ground wheat, ground barley or shorts.

Skinmilk or buttermilk fed at the rate of one to two pounds per pound of meal is necessary to balance the ration, or in the absence of milk, 5 per cent of tankage should be included in the meal mixture.

The amount of meal required per sow will vary from 3 to 6 pounds per day, depending upon age, size and condition and should be regulated to bring her to farrowing in good condition but not too fat. If bran is not previously fed, at least one pound per day should be allowed each sow when she is moved to farrowing quarters a week or more before due to pig.

In addition to the meal ration the feeding of green feed, roots and a simple mineral mixture provide needed proteins, vitamins and minerals. A small amount of iodine supplied weekly to the pregnant sow is a wise precaution against goitre or hairlessness in litters.
